ABOUT KCSB-FM

KCSB is Santa Barbara's only full-power independent community radio station that is student-led and operated. We're located under Storke Tower in the heart of UCSB's campus right next to the turtles and Koi fish pond.

HISTORY

KCSB was established in 1962 as a low-power FM radio station by Bill Harrison in UCSB's Anacapa Hall, and in 1964 it became the first UC station to be officially licensed by the FCC as a noncommercial, educational broadcaster. KCSB airs a free-form lineup of eclectic music, public affairs, and cultural arts programs, as well as daily news and sportscasts. Our signal covers a 75-mile radius with over 100 volunteer programmers producing live content 24/7.

KCSB. It's just plain good for you."

– JOSEF WOODARD, WRITER FOR THE SB INDEPENDENT, AND DOWNBEAT MAGAZINE

KCSB is designed to be educational for programmers and listeners. UCSB students and community volunteers are provided an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of radio broadcasting, both technically and in content, and to explore more advanced aspects of broadcasting and the audio medium. KCSB ensures that these opportunities are offered to a diverse community, especially those who are traditionally underrepresented in broadcasting.

The overall success of the station is very heart warming for me to read about every so often. Please pass on my congratulations to all of the staff for the great teamwork that results in the service you all are doing as creative broadcasters serving a phenomenal campus and tri-county community."

– BILL HARRISON, FOUNDER OF KCSB
